Youth is Flexible

Supple Grace is a Reward —keep your feet young

Today everyone wishes to keep young. This spirit has much to do with the increasing popularity of Cantilever Shoes. For youth is essentially flexible and the springy, elastic grace of youth has its foundation in the feet.

It is apparent to all that the pleasant activities that prolong the vitality of youth, such as golf, tennis, dancing and walking, depend largely upon healthy feet for their enjoyment and their benefits.

The expression "young feet" heard so much today is significant. Your foot is a cantilever spring, formed of twenty-six bones held in place by muscles. When these muscles are forbidden full freedom to exercise, your feet are not only losing their health but are causing you to lose yours.

Cantilever Shoes are made with flexible arches like the arches of your feet. These arches follow the curve of your own, affording gentle, restful support that does not hamper the natural flexibility of your feet. They permit your foot muscles to exercise and strengthen.

With their flexible arches, trim, natural lines and properly placed heels, Cantilevers give you comfort, better circulation and correct posture. A sense of freshness and physical elation often results. Many women speak of the comfort and increased vitality they derive from Cantilever Shoes.

Cantilevers are made of fine materials, by skilled workers who have received a special training for years. When buying shoes, be certain that you are at a Cantilever dealer's (there is only one in each city, except in New York) and look for the Cantilever trademark in the shoe. Cantilever Shoe merchants have been carefully selected for their ability to fit the foot.

There is a partial list of Cantilever dealers at the left. If none listed is near you, write the makers, Morse & Burt Co., 11 Carlton Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., for the name of a nearby dealer and an informative booklet about shoes and feet.

SOME apprehension was felt as to the possible behavior of the Russian delegates when they met the Italian King, but the ceremonies of introduction passed off smoothly, in accordance with convention.—This blasé generation is constantly inventing new sports in order to obtain an additional thrill, and this end would seem to have been obtained in the new game of auto polo with all its chances of collision and injury.—It is some satisfaction to know that the breakneck race between thieves and policemen that recently took place in New York City ended in the capture of the robbers after their machine had taken a headlong plunge into an areaway.—The recent struggle for supremacy at the very gates of Peking is said to have resulted in the complete defeat of General Chang and the triumph of his rival, Wu Pei Fu.—A strange wish was that expressed by the wife of a St. Austell tradesman on the Cornish coast: that her coffin should be taken out into the waters of the sea and there buried.—One of the most disastrous fires that has visited Pittsburgh for years is that which swept through the great steel plant of the Jones & McLaughlin Company on May 3, resulting in damage estimated at more than a quarter of a million dollars.—There is genuine pathos in the picture shown above of the blind Girl Scouts, who, despite their terrible infirmity, are shown standing in the sun, that they will never see, saluting the flag which they have been told is being held before them.—A large part of the teeming population of Tokio, Japan, turned out to give a tumultuous welcome to the Prince of Wales when he recently arrived in that country.—How the mighty have fallen is illustrated anew in the sale at auction of the bronze bust of the ex-Kaiser that formerly adorned the Leviathan. The prices that have been offered for it already range from 15 cents to $750.

It is believed that the explosion accompanied by fatalities at Downey, Cal., fifteen miles southeast of Los Angeles, was caused by a blow-torch being used when the truck was unloading the gasoline into the storage tanks at the station.—The powerful armament that makes the Maryland one of the most formidable superdreadnoughts in the United States Navy is clearly in evidence in this airplane view of the vessel as she is leaving New York to join the Atlantic Fleet at Hampton Roads, Va.—Probably no larger shoes trod the deck of a transatlantic liner than those in which are encased the feet of the "bashful giant" pictured above.—An evidence of the increasing interest being shown in university settlement work is furnished by the large throng that witnessed the recent dances of the children in the Spring festival and pageant held in Central Park.—The very heart of the Soviet idea is propaganda, and it is not surprising that they have utilized the movies with their universal appeal for the spreading of the pestilent doctrines that have brought unhappy Russia to the depths of destitution and despair.—Dancing is one of the oldest of the arts in India, and the native performers, attired in costumes that appear barbaric to Occidental eyes, evidently outdid themselves in the elaborate ceremonies planned in honor of the Prince of Wales during his recent tour of India.—The coming of Spring always entails an unusual amount of work upon the keepers of the various zoological gardens throughout the country in preparing their charges to meet outdoor conditions.—The duties of the President are many and varied, but the bonhomie that is one of his marked characteristics is always in evidence in such functions as that shown above.

Picturesque Raisin Day Festival, Fresno, Cal.

One of the many gorgeous floats that attracted marked attention at the Raisin Day Festival held at Fresno, Cal., April 27, was this depicting King Raisin as the Ruler of the Garden of the Sun. The Raisin Day Festival is an annual event, and is only one of many similar carnivals held in that favored State in honor of the various fruits, such as oranges, peaches, &c., that have made it famous throughout the continent. Enormous crowds of visitors are drawn to the place from every section of the State.

Greeted with cheers by the spectators along the route was this float entitled "The Viking's Lure." The principal feature was an imitation vessel of Lief Ericsson and many of his kind used in their daring forays upon the coasts of neighboring countries, and in which they hazarded with unflinching hearts the perils of the stormy seas. The inmates of the float were less formidable, however, than the hardy followers of the Viking, although much more dangerous to masculine hearts, being composed of the prettiest maidens of the section.

Second inaugural address of President Lincoln carved on one of the walls of the memorial. It was delivered while the Civil War was still in progress, but when victory for the Union cause was clearly in sight. In its clearness of thought, its beauty and simplicity of phrasing, and its magnanimity of spirit, it ranks as one of the greatest productions of literature. The spirit that animates the whole address is embodied in the closing sentence: "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

Lord Byng Unveiling Memorial to Canadian Dead

ON Friday, April 28, Lord Byng, Governor General of Canada, unveiled the fine bronze memorial which had been erected in the concourse of the Windsor Street Canadian Pacific Railway Station at Montreal as a memorial to eleven hundred Canadian Pacific Railway employees who gave their lives in the Great War. The guard of honor was composed of Canadian Pacific Railway employees who were also war veterans. An exact copy of this statue was at the same time unveiled at Winnipeg in the presence of the Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba and at Vancouver by the Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia. The base of the statue bore the following inscription:

"To commemorate those in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company who at the call of King and Country left all that was dear to them, endured hardship, faced danger and finally passed out of sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. Let those who come after see to it that their names be not forgot."

THE fact seems beyond question that Russia has the largest army in Europe, numerically at least, although it is probable that in efficiency it is not comparable in strength with the military establishment maintained by France. Its equipment, however, is constantly being bettered, and there is no question that it is a force to be reckoned with in Eastern Europe. This has an advantage beyond that of a military nature to the Soviet authorities, because it enables them by pressure to obtain political and economic results that they could not otherwise achieve. Thus in the Genoa Conference, now in session, the strength of the Russian demands has been greatly increased by the fears of Poland and the nations comprising the Little Entente that if those demands were not granted military operations might ensue on the part of their powerful neighbor.

BIBLE IN PICTURES

One of the picturesque scenes in the series of sacred films covering early Biblical topics. The grave of Terah before the gate of the City of Haran is in the foreground and Abraham is bidding a sorrowful farewell to the dead. At his side stands Sarah, his wife, in an attitude of grief.

Russian Delegates at Genoa Conference

THE Russian delegates at Genoa seated on the veranda of the palace assigned to them and discussing the details of the proposition that they had been commissioned to lay before the representatives of the allied powers. Seated at the table at the further side and opening his portfolio is Tchitcherin, the head of the delegation. He is the Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs and the most influential representative from that country. Seated at the right of Tchitcherin is Maxim Litvinoff. In the foreground at left with his back to the camera is Adolph Joffe, who was one of the participants in the Brest-Litovsk negotiations and also head of the delegation that signed the Polish Peace Treaty at Riga. The Russians have been the central figures at the conference because the problems presented in the reconstruction of their country are the most difficult of all, and also because of the truculence and arrogance of the demands that they have made upon the allied powers.

MISS M. DOHONEY

Prominent member of the Reception Committee for the second annual convention of disabled American Veterans of the World War in San Francisco, Cal. Miss Dohoney is a typical "Girl of the Golden West."

AMONG the figures here presented special interest will attach to that of Miss Clara D. Noyes, who has been called "the greatest Red Cross nurse of them all." She is President of the American Nurses' Association, the largest organization of professional women in the world. Miss Noyes mobilized and assigned 20,000 nurses to active service in the period between April 6, 1917, when the United States entered the war, and the signing of the armistice, Nov. 11, 1918. She now has the responsibility of assigning to active service the 38,601 nurses comprising the present roster of the Red Cross Nursing Service.

Rodin's Most Famous Statue Placed Upon His Grave

"THE THINKER"

The most celebrated work of Rodin, perhaps the greatest sculptor of the last fifty years, forms a most fitting memorial, and has been placed upon his grave at Bellevue, France, which has become a place of pilgrimage for lovers of art. (P. and A. Photos.)

Stop Mouth Breathing

You know how annoying is the thought that you sometimes sleep out loud.

The Davis Chin Strap relieves you of the embarrassment of snoring. It fits snugly and comfortably around the chin and head, holding the chin in position, thus preventing mouth breathing—the direct cause of snoring, and those throat and ear troubles directly due to this habit.

The constant support of the Davis Chin Strap prevents or reduces that bugbear to the fastidious woman—a double chin.

Washes easily.

Get a Davis Chin Strap and wear it every night. It comes in three materials. Cotton—$2, Linen—$3, Mesh—$4. When ordering, measure size over crown of head and point of chin. Special size for children. Send check or money order to

FIRST IN ROTOGRAVURE

SOURCES from which The New York Times obtains its photographs are not surpassed by any other newspaper. Representatives of The Times in every country provide unusual facilities for obtaining pictures of important news events.

THE sales of the Sunday edition of The New York Times, of which the Rotogravure Section is a part, are in excess of 500,000 copies.

IN 1921 The New York Times published 673,358 agate lines of rotogravure advertising, 176,306 lines more than the second newspaper. In four months of this year The Times published 293,834 agate lines of rotogravure advertising, a gain of 52,954 lines over the corresponding months of 1921 and an excess over the second newspaper of 87,896 lines. The volume of rotogravure advertising offered for publication in The New York Times is so great that it is frequently necessary to omit many columns of announcements.

THE NEW YORK TIMES is read by the largest group of intelligent, discriminating and prosperous men and women ever assembled by a newspaper.
